New Car Franchise Dealers do not have a monopoly on "Log Book" Servicing.

They cannot suggest that your statutory rights are void, simply because the vehicle is serviced outside of their dealer network. If you're concerned about preserving your new car's statutory warranty but also want to obtain expert service at a competitive rate, your local Repco Authorised Service centre can help.

Euroa Heritage Trail guide

Ride the trail and support a local not for profit organisation at the same time. My Future Academy create and design activities and programs to meet the needs of young people in our community. They also provide local bike hire, which would be the ideal way to experience Euroa Heritage Trail. Order through My future academy website and pick up from Euroa Caravan Park to enjoy this guided tour which passes over 30 historic buildings.

This is a guided introduction to early Euroa, to view the full guide you can go to visiteuroa.org.au for a digital version.

1. The Farmers' Arms Hotel was licensed by J Shelswell in 1876 and served as a hotel for about 35 years. In the 1920s Mrs Edith Smith turned it into a boarding house and ran it as such for over 50 years. In 1974 it became the Farmers' Arms Hotel Museum.
2. The site of the first Shire Hall is opposite the Farmers' Arms Museum in Kirkland Avenue. In 1833 the Council purchased the Rechabite Hall and shortly afterwards upgraded it by incorporating new offices in front of the earlier structure. The hall was used until the present Shire Hall was built in Binney Street in 1939.
3. The Hume and Hovell Cairn which commemorates the 1824 journey of the first explorers through this district was erected adjacent to Burton's Bridge in 1924.

4. The Church of England which stands in Clifton Street was built for £800 and was completed in November 1884. This is the nave of the present church. Additions to St Paul's over the years include the English Gothic Bell Tower designed by Louis Williams added in 1929 and a Baptistry and Lady Chapel in comparatively recent years.

5. Euroa Primary School No. 1706 is situated on Clifton Street adjacent to the traffic lights. The school opened as State School No. 1706 in 1876, replacing Euroa School 217 which was a non-vested Church of England School. Various changes and additions have been made over the years.

6. The Methodist Church (now Funeral Chapel) was built by G. Whyte in 1897 at a cost of £30. This simple red-brick Gothic Chapel is a notable landmark in the town and important for its location, ending the run of red-brick buildings in Binney Street.

7. In 1890 George Diggle built the handsome Euroa Court House in Binney Street and it remains in first-class condition. It was designed by J.T. Kelleher of Public Works Department and is a rare example of Victorian Court Houses designed in Romanesque style. It is notable for its picturesque massing, the heavy portico with its arched entry and the large bulls-eye vent over the portico.

8. The Roman Catholic Church in Kirkland Avenue was built in 1886-87 by Lawrence Hanlon, of Benalla, the architects being Tappin, Gilbert and Dennehy. It is a simple redbrick Gothic Chapel of imposing proportions. The church cost £2000 to erect. The first Church was built in 1866 on the same allotment. Facing Binney Street is the Presbytery built in 1906.

9. In Kirkland Avenue near the RSL Clubrooms is the site where James Kirkland had his station homestead when he held “Urowa” Run from 1844 to 1851. Kirkland was thus the resident squatter at the time that the original town survey was made in 1850. The plaque is beside Twomey’s Bridge. In the grounds of the R.S.L. are the three Victoria Cross Memorial Trees.

10. In Kirkland Avenue is the old Euroa Flour Mill. Jared Graham built and operated the mill from 1873. Subsequently it was owned by J Birkett, C Lance, Palmer and Son, Palmer Bros. (who updated the building in 1903) and W McGregor (who purchased it in 1909 and closed it in 1917). Brands of flour produced were “Pride of Victoria” and “White Eagle”. It is important historically as one of Euroa’s early large industries, and notable architecturally for its Romanesque detailing such as the banded brickwork central arch (now painted over) and the Art Nouveau-patterned, rendered bank at the parapet line.

11. The Presbyterian (now Uniting) Church in Kirkland Avenue was built in 1889, it replaced their first church which stood behind the Seven Creeks Hotel. The original Manse is still there in Foy Street.

12. When King Edward VII came to the throne in 1901 an oak tree was planted to commemorate the occasion. That tree, with guard and plaque, stands at the Kirkland Avenue-Railway Street junction. A few metres along is The Masonic Lodge, built about 1901 with extensions in 1906, is said to be intact with no other alterations.

13. 45-47 Railway Street is the A.P. Gardiner Building (named after its original owner) which has hosted a variety of businesses over the years. It was built in 1901 after the first weatherboard store was burnt down.

14. The third National Bank built in Euroa stands at the corner of Binney and Railway Streets (opposite the site of the second – the “Kelly” bank). Erected in 1885 it cost £5000 to build, the contractors being O’Dea and Kennedy and the architects Tappin, Gilbert and Dennehy. The building is one of the best examples of banks designed in the Queen Anne style in Victoria. It is registered by the National Trust.

15. “Blairgowrie” in the centre of the Binney Street shops, has a very attractive facade and was built by H. London, chemist in 1890. Later occupiers of this commodious building included chemists HW Potts, Jas Blackie and GB Spiers. Note the first owner’s name “HL” & FL London” and the date of erection “1890” worked into the outside decorative pattern around the top of the arches.

16. 61 Binney Street – The Newsagency, was built around 1900. It retains its original shop front and is noted for the clerestory lighting.

17. Opposite the Post Office is Burton Stores, the longest running family owned business in Euroa. Forerunner of the businesses on this site was Gleeson’s, Euroa Trading Company and Alex Miller and Co. (who began business there in 1892) and from whom Burtons took over as sole proprietors in 1927.

18. An earlier Post Office built in 1884 burnt down in 1889 and the present two-storied Post Office was built by the Public Works Department in 1890. Built of red-brick with rendered dressings and in Romanesque style; notable for its asymmetrical massing and central two-storey section which has tripled Italianate arches, over a large banded Romanesque arch. In 1968 the building was extended in a complimentary style.

19. Salvation Army Barracks was built on the site of the old saleyards in 1892 in McGuinness Street. It is where the first kindergarten was held from 1945-1964.

HISTORIC REGION

20. Opposite the Memorial Hall is the handsome building erected as the Colonial Bank in 1889. It later housed the Bank of Australasia, then the ANZ Bank until that bank moved to Binney Street in the early 1970s. This building is a fine example of Boom classicism and is notable for its superimposed trabeated system over red brickwork and for its upper storey arcaded loggia on the Railway Street side. The building is a rare example of its type within the region.

MEE+ THE ARTIST

Lauren Ericksen aka Everyday Lines

Lauren Ericksen is a visual artist living and working in Naarm (Melbourne). Lauren's distinctive style explores both figurative and abstract styles through the use of continuous lines. She depicts figures and symbols, seeking to reflect on life. The big stuff, the small stuff and the everyday.

Lauren's art for the booklet was inspired by her upbringing in Euroa. "Euroa is such a beautiful place, I loved growing up here and coming back now to visit family. It's homey and has that quiet country charm,"

Her favourite things to do when in town, "I love walking up Balmattum Hill, going for a swim at Polly McQuinn's and having a wine or two at Northern Republic," Lauren said.

PETER WARD

Photographer & visiteuroa.org.au website manager

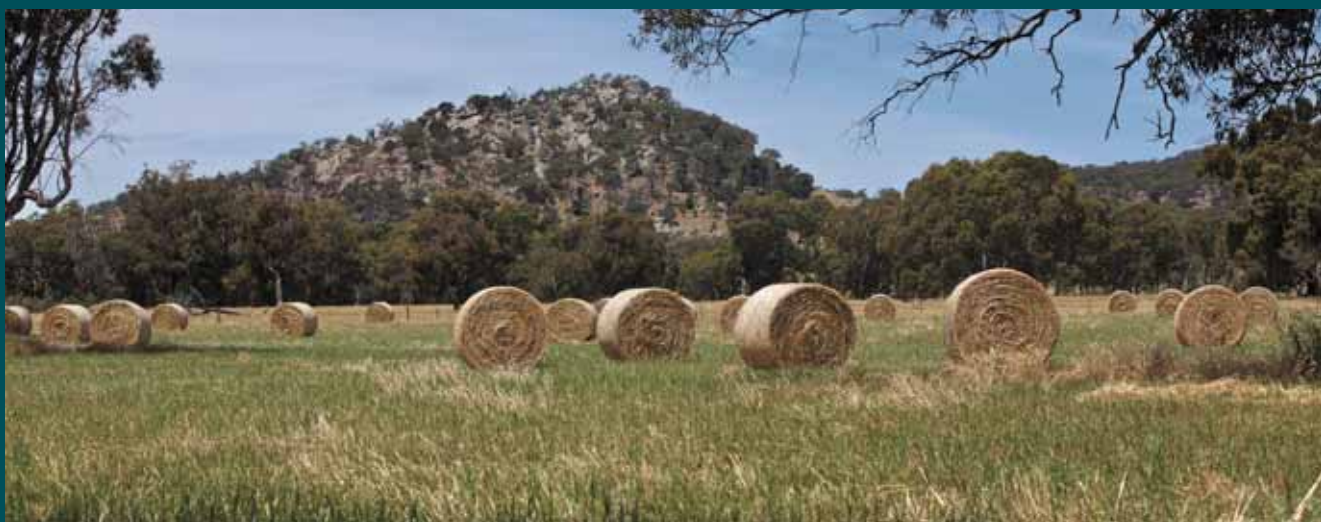

My first challenge as a photographer is to capture images which closely resemble the experience we see and feel in different locations.

Sometimes it's when nature rewards us with beautiful light across our local landscapes, both natural and urban. The second is to use photographic techniques and software to produce creative visual effects in my work.

Hence the tag, photographer and digital artist.
